REGULATIONS GOVERNING DISCOUNT AND TRANSPORTATION

School Boards are not permitted to make the sale of text or library books a source of revenue. The Department of Education extends the privilege of a discount to School Boards on the understanding that the Boards in turn pass the saving on to the student.

General Rules Governing Application of Discount

A discount of 15 per cent will only be given when the following conditions are complied with:

1. Orders must amount to $5.00 or more.
2. Requisitions shall be authorized by the signatures of the Chairman and Secretary-Treasurer of the Board.
3. School Boards purchasing with the intention of reselling to the student must guarantee that he receive full benefit of the discount. That is, each book shall be sold at list price less the 15 per cent discount which has been extended to the Board.

Schedule of Transportation Regulations

1. On an order amounting to less than $5.00, postal charges will be prepaid by the School Book Branch. List prices will prevail with no discount allowed.
2. On an order amounting to at least $5.00, yet under $25.00, a discount of 15 per cent will be given but postal or express charges will be additional to the net cost of the books. For the convenience of School Boards and teachers, the consignment will be forwarded prepaid but transportation charges will be added to the net value of the invoice.
3. An order of $25.00 or more will receive the standard 15 per cent discount. Provided that the books are to be consigned in one shipment to the Divisional Office or to an individual School District, transportation charges will be prepaid by the School Book Branch.

To obtain the discount orders must bear the signatures of the Chairman and Secretary.

INTRODUCTION

TO

BOOK LIST FOR THE INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL

A Supplement to the Programme of Studies for the Intermediate School

This Book List is similar in form and purpose to the Book List for the Elementary School, issued in July, 1940. It contains the titles of all books that have been recommended or mentioned in the Programme of Studies for the Intermediate School, Revised Edition, 1941; and it is accordingly a Supplement to the Programme of Studies for the Intermediate School. The books listed therein are classified in convenient form for the use of pupils, teachers, parents, superintendents and divisional boards.

This new Book List will be found indispensable to every teacher of the Intermediate Grades, VII, VIII and IX. It contains the titles, not only of every book mentioned in the Programme of Studies for the Intermediate School, but also of many new and more recent books that can be recommended for classroom use. It has a Minimum List for every intermediate-grade classroom, and supplementary lists for every subject and grade. Books of outstanding value are specially noted.

There are also integrated lists in which references are grouped for projects (or enterprises) involving several different subjects concurrently; as for example, Mathematics, Community Economics, Social Studies, Health, Home Economics and General Shop. It is to be expected that every teacher of the intermediate grades will study and use these integrations, for they are vital to the spirit of the new education.

Books are an important part of the tools and equipment for the new education. But the classroom use of books has changed greatly during the last ten years. Instead of a few textbooks to be conned by heart, and a scant half dozen books of reference, we now require in the classroom library many textbooks and a generous supply of reference material. The purpose of this Book List will not be achieved until every intermediate-grade classroom measures up to this requirement.

Possibilities for Correlation and Partial Integration in the Field of General Science

The content of the subjects as outlined in the Intermediate School Programme of Studies reveals a considerable amount of interrelation of topics. The Science texts contain material which is especially useful in the proper understanding of Health, Social Studies and Community Economics. The alert teacher who undertakes problem or theme studies will save himself considerable time by taking advantage of the many possible correlations and partial integrations. A resourceful teacher will readily detect ways and means of correlating Mathematics in dealing with the metric system. English should be a correlative of all subjects, and more particularly in the oral and written work of the Science course. Health is especially rich in possible integration with Science, particularly in such topics as Community Health, Foods, Nutrition, Personal Health and Mental Hygiene. In Social Studies integration is bound to arise in the treatment of such topics as Production, Industrial Processes, Distribution, Communication, Standard of Living, Comforts in Rural and Urban Homes of Today, and so on.

The texts contained in the PRIMARY, SECONDARY and SUPPLEMENTARY Lists are not built up on the pattern of "integration themes." They do, however, contain material which is definitely interrelated with other subjects of the Intermediate School Programme. The scheme of correlation and integration is left to the individual teacher to plan.

"Health—Social Studies—Science" Integration:

The following texts contain generous amounts of Health and Social Studies material which will fit readily into a correlation or integration pattern.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Reference Books For Classroom Libraries:

For the successful completion of any of the three courses it is essential that the pupil shall have at his disposal a classroom library, or a school library, rather than a single textbook.

With respect to the following lists it may be said that the books starred in the Primary List are indispensable. As circumstances permit, additional books should be provided, which, though not indispensable, are very desirable. Thereafter, books may be added to the classroom shelf from the Secondary List.

Note: It is pointed out that books marked for Grades VII, VIII and IX are suited to Sections A, B and C respectively.

Primary List:
